IB Global Explorations in Social Studies (Florida Standards)

	Grade 6 – World History (SS.6.W)	Grade 7 – Civics (SS.7.C)	Grade 8 – World History (SS.8.W)
Identities and Relationships	Examine how social class, religion, and governance shaped identity and relationships within early civilizations such as Mesopotamia, Egypt, and China.	Analyze how the rights and responsibilities of citizens define the relationship between individuals and government in a constitutional democracy.	Analyze how nationalism, political ideology, and social movements shaped identities during major global conflicts and revolutions.
Personal and Cultural Expression	Analyze how art, architecture, belief systems, and traditions reflect the values and worldviews of ancient civilizations.	Evaluate how First Amendment freedoms allow individuals and groups to express political beliefs and influence government.	Examine how propaganda, media, and cultural movements shaped public opinion and resistance during major global events.
Orientation in Space and Time	Explain how geography influenced the rise, expansion, and decline of early civilizations and how historical events are connected across time.	Analyze how historical documents and events influenced the structure and development of American government.	Analyze cause-and-effect relationships across global historical timelines, including industrialization, imperialism, and world wars.
Scientific and Technical Innovation	Describe how technological advancements such as agriculture, writing systems, and tools supported the development of early societies.	Analyze the role of technology in civic participation, political communication, elections, and access to information.	Examine how industrialization, scientific discoveries, and military technology transformed global power and economic systems.

Created by: Ermina Pierre (December 2025)

IB Global Explorations in Social Studies (Florida Standards)

Globalization and Sustainability	Explain how trade routes, resource use, and cultural diffusion connected ancient civilizations and influenced regional development.	Analyze how global interdependence influences national policy decisions and civic responsibilities in a connected world.	Evaluate the long-term effects of globalization, imperialism, and economic systems on sustainability and global equity.
Fairness and Development	Analyze how laws, social hierarchies, and governance systems addressed justice and fairness in ancient civilizations.	Evaluate how the Constitution, rule of law, and civic participation promote fairness, equality, and democratic development.	Examine struggles for independence, human rights movements, and political reforms that shaped fairness and development globally.

Created by: Ermina Pierre (December 2025)